

PELHAM MURDER MYSTERY CLEARING BY CONVICT'S HINT

George King, Jailed for Trivial Offense, Made Boast of Greater Crime.

LOOKING FOR HIS "PAL."

Had Bad Record in the Neighborhood Before Rich Mr. Rosenheimer Was Killed.

In George B. King, under sentence in the Tombs for burglary, Sheriff Lane, of Westchester County, and detectives of this city believe they have one of the two men who killed Julius Rosenheimer, the millionaire manufacturer, in the garden of his home at Pelham more than a month ago.

Sheriff Lane has arranged to have King indicted as soon as the Westchester Grand Jury meets. In the mean time, King, although he was sentenced to Sing Sing for burglary for two and a half years by Judge O'Sullivan on July 8, will remain in the Tombs.

Another man is under surveillance and will be arrested within a few hours, if the calculations of Sheriff Lane and several detectives who have been at work on the case are correct. This man has been located. With him in custody, it is believed that the clearing up of the Rosenheimer mystery will be a comparatively easy matter.

Ex-Convict and Well Known.
King is an ex-convict who has done time under the names of George Davis and George Macy. He has operated in Westchester County and is well known in Mount Vernon, White Plains, Yonkers and other Westchester cities. Early in May he was released from Sing Sing after serving time for a robbery committed in Dobbs Ferry.

King was arrested on July 8 for smashing the window of a jewelry store at No. 14 East Broadway with a stone and stealing half a dozen cheap watches. He made no attempt to get away and was taken into custody by detectives Dean and Donlon, of the Madison Street Station.

King was drunk. He told the detectives that he had committed the crime on purpose so that he might be sent to prison.

Significant Admission.
"I want to get away," he said, "until something blows over. If you guys were wise you might pinch me for something big."

Dean and Donlon looked up the record of their prisoner, found that he had a criminal record in Westchester and noticed that King was in the vicinity of the Rosenheimer home on the night of the murder.

King got sober he closed up like a clam. The investigations were continued, however, and at the request of Sheriff Lane the police against the prisoner was pushed and he was tried and sentenced in order that there might be no possibility of his getting away.

Will Not Be Sold.

Church of the Holy Communion to Retain Property.

Rev. Henry Mottel, rector of the Church of the Holy Communion at Twentieth street and Sixth avenue, denied the report printed in several morning papers that the church is to be sold. The report, he explained, arose from the fact that in clearing the title to the original deed, which prevented the use of the property for anything except church purposes, it was necessary to file a lien upon the premises, binding the church to pay the debt of the original grantor a certain sum if ever the property should be sold.

WALTER CHRISTIE BACK.

Walter Christie, the inventor and driver of the racing car bearing his name, arrived today on the Teutonic, of the White Star line, with Louis Streng, his mechanic. They took part in the Grand Prix automobile race last month in France and withdrew on account of tire trouble after the first lap. Christie was the only American driving an American car in the race.

The pair were booked under assumed names, but changed to the correct ones while at sea.

MAN KILLED AS TWO FAST AUTOS CRASH TOGETHER

Machines Torn to Pieces in Head-On Collision on Ocean Parkway.

Ocean Parkway, Coney Island, was the scene of another automobile accident early today, in which one man lost his life and two others were painfully injured. The dead man is Thomas F. Donovan, chauffeur for C. P. Williamson, a retired merchant of No. 125 Willoughby avenue. The injured are Chapman Ropes, of Montclair, N. J., residing for the summer at Seagate, and his friend, C. P. Cavanaugh, of Boise, Idaho.

Before his death Donovan gave his address as No. 278 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, but he had not lived there for some time. Mr. Williamson said today that Donovan had permission to use the machine last night.

A big machine, bound north, at nearly a minute on the wrong side of the road, ran into another machine, running thirty miles an hour, guided by Ropes, who had Cavanaugh with him on the front seat.

Ropes is at the emergency hospital in Coney Island, and Cavanaugh is at a Brooklyn hotel.

His Lights Were Out.
It appears that Donovan was on his way to Brooklyn from Coney Island. The lights on his machine were out. Persons sitting on the veranda of Hamlin's Hotel saw the big dark machine take a sudden swerve to the west side of the street.

Down the driveway in the direction of Coney Island came Ropes in a powerful French machine. On the front seat with him was Cavanaugh. Ropes, too, seemed bent on breaking speed records. His machine was geared up to the highest notch and the lever was back to the last hole. Ropes and his companion were hearing Hamlin's Hotel when Donovan's machine leaped across the roadway.

The big machines came together with a crash like the bursting of cannon. The body of the French machine was torn off as though it had been sheet of paper, and Ropes and his companion were buried under the wreckage.

Impaled on Spokes.

Donovan was thrown over the front of his own machine, and the spokes of a broken wheel stabbed his chest, and he hung suspended for some minutes.

So tightly was Donovan wedged on the spokes that he was not off with great difficulty. He was put into Mr. Jackson's machine and taken with all speed to the Reception Hospital, but died a few minutes after he was admitted.

FOUND BODY IN EAST RIVER.
The body of a man was found floating in the East River at Pier No. 19 today.

Mr. Rosenheimer was struck down and killed and robbed within 100 yards of his own home by two men while he was walking in his garden with his wife. The police have run down dozens of clues, but have never been able to disabuse their minds of the suspicion that the crime was committed by ex-convicts in the pay of some one anxious to make Mr. Rosenheimer put out of the way.

Reports have reached the police that an ex-convict, well known in sporting circles in Westchester, told a man the night before the killing that an attempt had been made to hire him to kill Rosenheimer. The police have also been told that on the morning of the murder a man was heard to say in White Plains: "Rosenheimer will be dropped tonight."

WALKS IN SLEEP OUT OF WINDOW; MORTALLY HURT

Boy's Parents Were On the Stoop and He Fell Between Them.

Fourteen-year-old George Sundberg, of No. 21 Calver street, Williamsburg, probably took his last somnambulist journey early today when he walked out of the third-story window of his home.

The boy has long been a victim of the sleep-walking habit, and his parents provided the windows of their home with Venetian blinds to prevent accidents. It was so hot and humid last night, however, that the heavy blinds were up.

Mr. and Mrs. Sundberg and one of their neighbors found sleep impossible and went down to the stoop. While they were sitting there the boy, clad only in his nightgown, plunged down between them, landing on his head and fracturing his skull. His right arm and leg were broken, and he was injured internally. At the Eastern District Hospital, where he was taken, it was said he could not recover.

The parents of the boy said today that he has been a victim of somnambulism since infancy. Once he tumbled off the roof into the back yard, but landing on a heap of mattresses was not badly hurt. On another occasion he walked out a rear window, falling to a fire-escape below. Time and again he has walked down to the street and wandered about asleep until a policeman woke him up and took him home.

MURPHY FOREMAN HELD.

John Brennan, foreman for the New York Contracting Company, in charge of the gang of which one was killed and two injured by a fall of rocks in the excavation for the Pennsylvania terminal station at Ninth avenue and Thirty-second street yesterday, was held in $2,000 bail by Coroner Harbinger, to whom he was remanded by Magistrate Finn from the West Side Court today. Bail was promptly furnished for him.

DYNAMITE AND LASH TO FORCE FARMERS IN LINE

Kentuckians Hurt by Field Blow-Up and Dragged From Home by Masked Mob.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., July 13.—A threshing machine owned by John Fields, a non-association farmer, was destroyed today on the farm of Dr. Word at Oak Grove by dynamite that was concealed in the wheat. Two laborers were injured. John Garrett had a leg broken and suffered internal injuries. James Brown was cut about the arms and face. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

Fields had been warned to join the association before attempting to thresh his wheat.

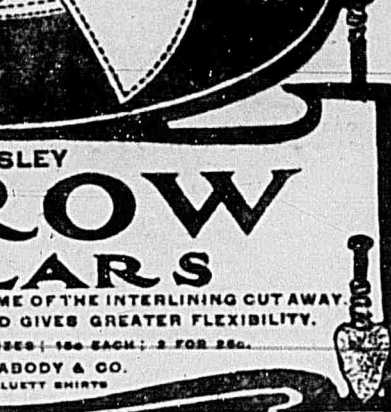

Twenty-five masked men took Nathan Hester, aged fifty years, a Tripp County farmer, from his home at midnight and at the point of a shotgun mercilessly flogged him with a rawhide. Before releasing him he was brutally kicked and mistreated.

His wife, who has heart disease, fainted when she saw her husband dragged away and is in a critical condition. Hester was a former member of the Farmers' Association and deserted several months ago. He had not heeded the warnings to raise no more tobacco and wheat.

BLACK HAND LETTER TO HALT MURDER IN URY

(Special to The Evening World.)
INWOOD, L. I., July 13.—A Black Hand letter was received today by I. W. Maccollini, a wealthy contractor, demanding that he would be the next victim if he did not stop pushing the murder case against Achille Castagna, an Italian hotelkeeper in this place, who is held for killing his partner, Natalie Poliment. Maccollini was found murdered at the hotel on the night of June 12. His face was shot away by a man from a window on the outside.

It was since learned that the Black Hand had a part in it. Maccollini, who was a captain in the Italian army and was the owner of the hotel building, has taken an active part in getting evidence, and gave the authorities valuable information concerning the Black Hand work in the job.
